What About Armies?
By Arthur Brisbane

Delegates to the Washington conference know, from Secretary Hughes, that this country has something definite to propose. It can be put in five words, "Let us stop our senseless war."

With the world racing to spend-thrift destruction, the sensible suggestion is "Let us stop right here and talk it over."
And that is Mr. Hughes' suggestion made for the United States.

No more warship building for ten years. No finishing of ships now building. And the plan involves the scrapping of sixty-six great fighting ships. The United States, England and Japan are to be the three nations in the plan, for they are the three great naval powers.

The proposal is definite, drastic, revolutionary, new in the world's history, and is all written out in detail. Some ships completed are actually to be destroyed within three months—hundreds of millions invested in killing machinery to be wiped out. All ships building now go to the junk pile. In ten years nothing new existing would be worth using anyhow, even if someone played Ruse and saved the partly finished vessels.

The vessels that must be destroyed, although now in the water, ready, and the ships that each of the three nations may keep, are named. No room for mistake.

The United States shows good faith in making the greatest sacrifice in ships, money and men. With our wealth we could bankrupt the world, including England and Japan, at the shipbuilding game.

Instead of that, we agree to scrap thirty-three vessels of $42,440,000, against a system of shipbuilding of $14,000,000, and returning Japanese ships at $145,000,000.

England's King, in his latest speech, said England must always have the highest navy. We would have replied "All right, as ahead, and let us see who will win the longest war." Even if England used the billions borrowed from us to build ships against us, we could put her in bankruptcy easily.

We take a different line and say—back—England, navy compared with ours, may be as six to two. We say, "You want the biggest navy? Here it is. We'll consent to your navy being five times bigger than ours, although we have twice your white population and twice your money."

The plan ultimately is to have English and American fleets equal, the Japanese navy not to exceed 60 per cent. of either of the other two. With England and Japan united in alliance that would mean an Anglo-Japanese fleet by 60 per cent. greater than ours, and we consider 100 to 100 pretty fair odds for us, but that we want to show GOOD FAITH. And we are showing it.

How will the nations, England especially, receive the suggestion? If accepted, it tells from the nations, as individuals, the right to "do as they please with their own," according to the sacred ancient formula. It is not a humbly revolting against the barbarian war, but business common sense revolting against going bankrupt. This country, which has least cause to fear financial ruin, offers the way to the other big naval powers. It will mean a saving of $200,000,000 a year to each of them in one single direction. It will mean the saving of the navy tens of thousands made available for productive work.

Nothing is said about flying machines, space machines built for peace could at once be used in war. What will carry mail bags will carry bombs. Our postoffice needs, with their managing the department for the President, will take care of the country in that direction.

An effort will be made to regulate building machines so that they could be used for naval fighting. It won't be easy to regulate the long-range gun, the protected submarine, destroyers and aircraft, such a colored mechanism—with guns of range sufficient—could wipe out battleships.

But, at least, an attempt is made to stop the nations from being the nations are bankrupt, and that is something. The United States offers so more, in limiting herself, than she asks England or Japan to do. She asks no sacrifice, makes, takes second place on the sea, although she could afford first place, with a big margin.

Alarmed patriots that wonder why England should have a navy one-third bigger, for the present, than our own, are limiting herself, than she asks England or Japan to do. She asks no sacrifice, makes, takes second place on the sea, although she could afford first place, with a big margin.

Pelletier Seeks Aid of Cabot

ASKS COURT TO DELAY HEARING

District Attorney Says Deposition of Antagonist is Necessary for Defence

That Godfrey L. Cabot, treasurer of the Walsh and Ward Society, and avowed bitter enemy of District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier, will be called as a witness in behalf of the district attorney, was revealed today when Pelletier appeared before the full bench of the Supreme Court to respond to the petition of Attorney-General Allen asking for his removal from office.

The district attorney appeared in court for more time in which to prepare his defence and declared he would need the deposition of Cabot for said defence. Cabot as an official of the Walsh and Ward Society, and avowed bitter enemy of the district attorney, was revealed today when Pelletier appeared before the full bench of the Supreme Court to respond to the petition of Attorney-General Allen asking for his removal from office.

Cabot is now in Europe, according to Pelletier, and the district attorney stated in court that he did not know just when he would be able to reach Cabot to obtain the deposition that he said was necessary for his defence.

When the district attorney arose in court he stated that he thought perhaps the court "might have noticed that I am a candidate for a public office—that of Mayor of Boston." He further stated that the candidacy would require a great deal of time.

He said that if it had not been for the fact that he was a candidate for Mayor, he would not have been in court today.

He stated that tomorrow he would have to appear in another court, to a petition consisting of similar charges, and he stated that he was a candidate for a public office—that of Mayor of Boston.

Britain to Accept Plan of Her Own Beaten by Hughes Reservations Next

By Norman Hapgood

Boston American Staff Correspondent.
Washington, Nov. 14.—It was learned here that both the British and Japanese delegations arrived Sunday to the preparation of statements to be made at tomorrow's session of the conference, accepting the proposals set forth by Secretary Hughes.

In the past twenty-four hours there has been frequent interchange of views on the part of Arthur Halsey and Baron Kato, who, it is stated, will respectively, make the addresses of their delegations to the broad principle.

That Mr. Arthur James Halsey will arise in his full height in connection with tomorrow's meeting and deliver a speech, leading the British delegation for the scrapping of sixty-six great fighting ships is now assured.

Indeed, the British brought over with them a plan, in the hands of Lord Lee of Fareham, a set of proposals that is said to be more radical than the one proposed by Secretary Hughes.

Refusal Would Be Notice to World That Die Is Cast, He Declares

GERARD, Former Ambassador to Germany, Editor of International News Service, Washington, Nov. 14.—A composite portrait of the delegates to this conference, would show the face of a man determined to accomplish. There was an atmosphere of action when the Congress assembled, and into that atmosphere Secretary Hughes, immediately, without preliminaries, threw the German flag, not of discord, but of opportunity.

Mrs. W. P. The amendment being considered is that, while the scale laid down by the British plan would be somewhat exceeded over the ten years sufficient to allow the British to pay off their debt. There are those in British circles who wish the plan to be as simple as possible, and they feel that the most likely position would not remain in the hands of the British, but would find a way of securing it even further from the Americans.

Christmas Dinners for Many War Veterans Who Are Without Money

Many destitute World War veterans and their families are to be assisted by the Boston American Christmas Basket Fund. This fund has raised the $2,000 mark.

Although many different funds are being raised in Greater Boston at the present time for various purposes, we believe the people are convinced of the good work we do, and will see that all our records are broken this year.

The work done by the Boston American Christmas Basket Fund is entirely independent of that done by any other organization in Greater Boston. It does not get any financial assistance from any organized charity.

It is entirely dependent upon the good will of the thousands of readers in making it a success. The work of the fund is so extensive that many organized charities are unable to assist in supplying food to needy families.

WILL AID VETERANS.
Hundreds of veterans of the World War who have been unable to obtain employment, or who are ill, will give a helping hand by the fund this year.

One of the first appeals for aid to come from a veteran's wife reads as follows:

"Will you please send me a Christmas dinner, for we need it very much? It is not for my Christmas Basket Fund we would have been without a dinner last Christmas. My husband was crippled in the World War and has not been able to work since his discharge. The government awards him only $15 a month. My sick mother is living with us."

"I can never thank you enough for the assistance we obtained last year as the result of the parcel of food you gave us."

A contribution of $25 has been received from Henry E. Russell, a prominent Boston insurance man.

"Enclosed please find my check for $25 for the American Christmas Basket Fund. I consider this one of the very best charities, and I am sending this money with great pleasure."

WADSWORTH AID FUND.
P. Briggs Wadsworth, a leading Boston street merchant, has assisted the work of the Christmas Fund in many ways, including the use of one of his automobiles. Mr. Wadsworth believes the fund is doing a noble work.

Copley-Plaza Hotel ballroom. 30-day evening, December 19, in aid of the fund, under the auspices of the American Christmas Basket Fund. The 240 students of the Burnham School for Dancing, who are in support of the fund, will be present.

"This is the second time Miss Burnham has arranged a big ball in aid of the fund, and her pupils are enthusiastic over the prospect of making it a success, both financially and socially."

Several times the pupils have been offered by Miss Burnham to the children selling the largest number of tickets. At the children's request, that every dollar raised will be used solely for the purpose of purchasing substantial food for needy families, they are doing their utmost to dispose of a record number of tickets.

HOPE TO RAISE $1,000.
Miss Burnham and her pupils hope to raise at least $1,000 for the fund. The entertainment, in which more than one hundred of Miss Burnham's pupils will participate, will begin at 8 p. m. and continue for two hours.

Many attractive features are being arranged, including a Christmas fantasy that will delight the youngest element. Many striking costumes will be worn by those taking part in the feature.

In addition, there will be several solo dances, and vocal numbers by widely known singers. General dancing is to follow until 1 a. m. A large and popular orchestra has been engaged. The beautiful cold and ivory ballroom of the Copley-Plaza Hotel will make an ideal setting for this big affair.

Among the children who will appear in this big event are four little four-year-olds, who have made a big hit wherever they have danced. They are Anna Dalbo of the South End, Anna Hibel of Brookline, Viola Silverstein and Cecile White of Boston.

CHILDREN HELPERS.
Among the sturdy little helpers from the Burnham Studio who are assisting in making the ball a success, are the following:

Edith Galloway, Patricia Gallan, Ruth Leventhal, Bertha Simonds, Jane Morris, Grace Corrie, Mabel Corrie, Gertrude Labson, Florence Brown, Lillian Flynn, Dorothy Drab, Mildred Harvey, Elizabeth Drabson, Jack Maudock, Cecile Herman, Ruth Hines, Frances Haines, Josephine Conway, Lillian Wood, Irene Brown, Jane Galloway, Anna Goodell, Doris Holbrook, William Moore, Lillian Duncan, Edith Duncan, Edith Friedlander, Dorothy Smith, Marion Roberts, Doris Miller, Marion Levine, Shirley Friedlander, Edith Hines, Gloria Housen, Esther Levine.

A woman from the South End sent the following appeal:

"My husband has been out of work, and I am out of the hospital only three weeks, having had an operation, and am not able to work. I have two children and wish you would send me a Christmas basket."

A little girl from the West End wrote:

"I am a girl sixteen years old and I am the only one working in my family. I am the oldest of nine children. I am writing to you because you are the only one that can help me in this time. My father has not been working for a long time, but he is now very sick, and will be operated on in a few weeks. My poor mother is discouraged because we have no money. Please remember us at Christmas."

"I wish you would send us a Christmas Basket as my husband has been out of work for over two years, as he got hurt, and I am the mother of four small children and am able to work myself, as I am not very strong."

A little boy from Chelsea wrote:

"I am a little boy ten years old and the oldest in the family. My father is dead and mother is sick and not able to work. My grandmother lives with us and she is old and lame. Please help us with a basket."

An East Cambridge girl wrote:

'SALLIES' DRIVE PROMISES TO BE SUCCESS

Chairman Johnson Praises the Work of Women Members of Committee

There was no let up in the Salvation Army drive for $250,000 yesterday. Every resource and activity of the Army in this city was busy and the members of the maintenance committees were all at work in their separate ways looking for the "weak spots" in the organization and making further plans for the pushing and completion of the drive this week.

Chairman Johnson said: "There is no reason why we shouldn't put this drive over the top in a few days if everybody in the organized plan of work will do his or her part. And, by the way, the women are doing a noble work in this campaign."

"If our men would all work with the enthusiasm of such women as Mrs. P. Leachman Ames, Mr. Johnson and Miss Stella Young, we would have no worry about the campaign. There are a great many others whose names I cannot mention, who are doing splendid work, and I have received letters from all kinds of people that are very encouraging and show how high in the estimation of the community the Salvation Army really stands."

There are more people are coming up here to the campaign headquarters, No. 104 Devonshire street, to leave their subscriptions, and more and more subscriptions are coming in. The treasurer of the fund, Allen Forbes, at the State Street Trust.

A Guarded Milk

From Healthy Cows—From Sanitary Dairies

Safe and Sterile

Van Camp's Milk comes from healthy, high-bred cows—cows selected for vitality.

The dairies are sanitary. They are constantly inspected.

Then, too, the milk is sterilized after scaling. It comes to you germ-free. The dangers which lurk in ordinary milk are absent in Van Camp's.

Cost Less Than Bottles

Van Camp's is rich whole milk, reduced by evaporation to the thickness of thick cream.

Right after milking it goes into a vacuum. More than half the water is removed there by low heat. Nothing is added, nothing subtracted, save water.

You can use it as cream in your coffee or ice cream. If too rich dilute it somewhat. When you use it as milk, dilute it at least one-half. When you use it for cooking, dilute it still further.

It costs less than bottled milk. Great economy comes in saving waste. You have small cans and large cans to open as you need them.

High milk bills come through guessing on your wants. You often get too much. With Van Camp's you never have a shortage, never an excess.

Augusta, Me., Selected As Terminal of Two Air Routes

Augusta, Me., Nov. 14.—According to letters received by Mayor Sanford L. Page and Secretary George C. Clarke of the Augusta Chamber of Commerce this city has been selected as the terminal station for two proposed air routes, Augusta to Camp Lewis, Washington, and Augusta to Miami, Florida. These letters were received from Major Edwin H. Lyon of the Air Service and Adjutant General Robert L. Collins of the United States Army.

It appears, however, from the letter of Adjutant General Collins that the proposed routes of these routes are subject to change in the future and are to be located thereon are considered, as well as in the more detailed studies of their development progress.

The statement there were listed yesterday more than two hundred from men who wrote that for years they have been outspoken Democrats in state and national politics but who, according to their pledges, intend to continue in the municipal election next month the same attitude they took in last year's election.

NINE PERISH IN TENEMENT FIRE IN NEW YORK

33 Others Hurt as Blaze Sweeps Through Five-Story Dwelling

By Associated Press.

New York, Nov. 14.—At least nine persons are believed to have been burned to death in a tenement house here early today. Eight bodies, all unidentified, were found huddled together on the fifth floor of the building. Two men and one woman were seriously injured. While thirty others were treated for abrasions and smoke, they were taken to a hospital. The fire broke out in a five-story tenement, situated on West Seventeenth street, was occupied by fifteen families.

The fire originated in the basement and spread up through a shaft to the second floor, where it "burst forth," spreading through the four upper stories of the building.

Many of the occupants of the tenements groped their way to windows, where they clung to ledges and screamed for help. Firemen came from several blocks away to the scene.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY Woman's Municipal League Bazar Opens Tomorrow

SOCIETY will be in full force at the bazaar which the Woman's Municipal League is giving all day tomorrow at the Copple-Plaza. The various roles which members of the smart set will assume at the bazaar are of all sorts; some, of course, are serving on the committee in charge, others have offered their services as entertainers in the clever vaudeville show, which is to be one of the most interesting numbers on the program.

And at which a group of sub-debates will act as ushers; to others still, have been allotted the role of "volunteers," who will be on duty behind the counters of the many attractively arranged booths; and a group of the socially-select will be there as patrons.

Mr. Robert Frost, Poet, 2nd, one of the most ardent workers for the league, has brought home from abroad for her table a number of choice things, including English gloves and silk stockings from Marshall & Son, Boston. Mrs. Everett Moran is adding some old mirrors and other antiques procured in Spain, and there are to be Russian bronzes, beautiful bits of embroidery, handkerchiefs, doll furniture, "housekeeper's" aprons and children's clothing, as well as the many unusual articles which made this table notable among bazaar tables last year.

Many of the members of the Woman's Municipal League, who are such loyal supporters of Mrs. Alden in her work for the English-speaking women, will sell flowers and dahlias for her, dressed in their native costumes.

Mrs. Thimotee Adamowski, Robert Frost's daughter, John C. Wheelwright will provide over the tables of sweets and delicacies with the assistance of Miss Elizabeth Goodwin, whose mother, Mrs. William Goodwin, of Commonwealth avenue, is chairman of the committee in charge of the bazaar.

Miss Goodwin will have a group of delicate helpers on hand to aid in taming the peeping patrons with palatable tid-bits. Mrs. Stephen Fitzgerald, with Mrs. Rodman Vander, Mrs. Joseph Beahm and Mrs. Evelyn Sears as her assistants, has provided a table of preserves and canned goods. Mrs. William H. Ames, Mrs. Frederick Lord and Miss Katherine Russell are preparing children's stall with toys, books and clothing among a number of other attractive things. Mrs. Robert Gould Shaw, 2nd, of "Boulder Farm," Newton, promises something different in the arrangement of the flowers and plants of which she is in charge. Rather than being merely displayed on a table, as is so arranged that the effect of a garden will be produced. The day and farm table, heretofore so famous, will this year be combined under the direction of Mrs. George C. Wood, whose helpers will be the Misses Philip Allen, Samuel J. Hines, George Mumford, F. W. Hine, William A. Gustin, Philip Gardner, Robert P. Perkins, C. H. W. Foster, Henry P. King, Robert M. Salsburgh, Chester W. Leland and John W. Thayer.

The luncheon, always an enjoyable feature of the bazaar, is in charge of Mrs. Ronald T. Lyman, who reports that the ladies have practically all been taken. Among the matrons who will entertain at the luncheon are Misses Charles Wild, Dudley Howe, Raymond Thayer, Ronald Lyman, Everett Stone, 1921, Marjorie and Edward J. Holmes.

One of the features most looked for in the vaudeville show of which two performances will be given in the afternoon under the direction of Mrs. Bernard Wolf, who has procured a number of clever Vincent Club dancers, as well as a group from the Harvard Glee Club for the concertation. Chief among the entertainers will be the Misses Francesa Bragittelli, Helena Adamowski and Mary Blomgren.

The latter to do her famous pickaninny dance. Another big feature will be offered by Miss Kathryn who promised that some of her "wonderful semi-professional" talents should appear. Among the group of sub-debates who will act as ushers are the Misses Grace Street, Barbara Nichols, Frances Wild, Frances Reed, Barbara Stone and Constance Ripley.

Mention of Frances Bragittelli's name recalls the scene on Friday evening when the talented society dancer appeared professionally as solo dancer during the Star Opera Company's performance of "The Girl."

The versatile sister of Berthe Bragittelli appeared in a brilliant costume of sparkling blue, and at the end of the only act in which she appeared took many curtain calls with other members of the company. Berthe most charmingly accompanied her sister at all "concerts" by the start of such a large house—for every seat was taken on Friday night—Berthe received the largest bouquet of flowers handed over by the footlights during one of the many curtain calls. Her father, John Bragittelli, and her sister Berthe were in one of the boxes, where the young dancers later joined.

A number of society women are members of the general committee in charge of the bazaar, which is the Army and Navy Club, No. 19 Park street. The affair is called the "Ladies' War-Purpose" (Christmas bazaar) and is for the benefit of the Red Cross service work among disabled war veterans.

The bazaar, which is in charge of Mrs. Andrea Parker of Cambridge, takes place from 10 a. m. until 8 p. m. at the Copple-Plaza. The committee are Misses H. A. Admittance, James J. Cabot, Edwin Glen, Richard Heath, Albert Chase, George Wheelwright,

Olga A. Nazemba Accused of Defrauding Clients Out of Thousands

Springfield, Nov. 14.—Olga A. Nazemba, a youthful real estate promoter who, the police say, has swindled clients out of thousands of dollars, has been released from jail on bail.

The defendant's sister, Mrs. M. Nazemba, sister of the defendant's attorney, John P. Morahan, and John Chumura of Indian Orchard, furnished the $5,000 bond.

Miss Nazemba, who was arrested Tuesday, has spent two nights in jail. She left the building, subdued and fearful, a decided contrast to her spirited entry. Detectives say her second arrest last Friday completely broke her spirit.

The young woman had nothing to say as she was released. She hung on the arm of her husband, weeping as she started for her home at No. 22 Garden street, West Springfield.

The two cases against her are scheduled for trial November 25. Her counsel declared the witness young Nazemba would be completely exonerated.

On the contrary Attorney George E. Hughes, representing a score of Miss Nazemba's clients, declares she will stand behind the bars to stay. At least a dozen new complaints are anticipated this week.

Edward J. Conroy of Northampton, a business associate of the defendant, is still sought by the police.

ALLEGED GIRL SWINDLER'S FREE ON BAIL

Olga A. Nazemba Accused of Defrauding Clients Out of Thousands

Springfield, Nov. 14.—Olga A. Nazemba, a youthful real estate promoter who, the police say, has swindled clients out of thousands of dollars, has been released from jail on bail.

The defendant's sister, Mrs. M. Nazemba, sister of the defendant's attorney, John P. Morahan, and John Chumura of Indian Orchard, furnished the $5,000 bond.

Miss Nazemba, who was arrested Tuesday, has spent two nights in jail. She left the building, subdued and fearful, a decided contrast to her spirited entry. Detectives say her second arrest last Friday completely broke her spirit.

The young woman had nothing to say as she was released. She hung on the arm of her husband, weeping as she started for her home at No. 22 Garden street, West Springfield.

The two cases against her are scheduled for trial November 25. Her counsel declared the witness young Nazemba would be completely exonerated.

On the contrary Attorney George E. Hughes, representing a score of Miss Nazemba's clients, declares she will stand behind the bars to stay. At least a dozen new complaints are anticipated this week.

Edward J. Conroy of Northampton, a business associate of the defendant, is still sought by the police.

Just Before Christmas

The last-minute Christmas shoppers lose most of the spirit of Christmas. They are hurried and hurried. Giving becomes not a joy, but a burden. The choice of the gift, too, is limited, for many of the desirable things have been selected.

A gift sent away just before Christmas may not be received until December 26th or 27th. Gone is the fine flavor of the Christmas spirit, for it has become not a Christmas gift, but a gift.

Choose your Christmas gifts early. Most of our holiday merchandise has been received now. We suggest a Dunhill pipe or a cigarette holder for the man smoker, a cigarette case or a jeweled holder for the smart matron, a watch or bracelet for the "sub-deb," a piece of silver for the bride, a desk clock for the busy man.

The French papers are unusual and in excellent taste. Imported leather novelties and purses delight even the most critical. The new glass is attractive both in design and in price. Many other things offer tempting selection for gifts. May we show them to you soon?

BIRTH CONTROL SPEAKERS HELD BY POLICE

Mrs. Sanger and Miss Windsor
Protest New York Arrest;
Will Make Appeal

By Associated Press.
New York, Nov. 14.—Charged with disorderly conduct in attempting to address a birth control meeting at the town hall last night in defiance of the order of the police, Mrs. Margaret Sanger and Miss Mary Windsor, both conspicuous figures in the birth control movement, were taken for arraignment today in the West Side court.

"The meeting," Mrs. Sanger said, "was a continuation of a three-day conference held at the Plaza Hotel to discuss the various aspects of birth control. Harold Cox, editor of the Birth Control Review, and former member of the British Parliament, was to deal with the subject from an economic aspect and the immorality of war.

"My idea of calling the public together was in the belief that this subject could be discussed at the town hall with as much dignity and delicacy as it was discussed the past two days at the Hotel Plaza. We were in no way violating the law. I consider my arrest in violation of every principle of liberty that America stands for, and I shall take this case to the highest courts, if necessary, to provide the possibility of its ever happening again."

The police appeared at the hall before the speaking had begun, but while the hall was half filled the doors were locked and the crowd that was inside had to stay there, while hundreds outside clamored for admission. When the doors were opened to dismiss the audience, the crowd swept the police aside and carried Mrs. Sanger inside.

She mounted the stage and started to speak, but two policemen seized her arms and informed her that she could not continue. Upon her continued refusal to stop talking, Police Captain Donahue ordered her arrest and that of Miss Windsor, who attempted to speak after her.

A crowd of several hundred followed the two women to a police station where a technical charge of disorderly conduct was lodged against them. They were then taken in the night coach, where they were released without bail in the custody of their counsel until today.

CHINA'S DEATH AMPEL TO MEET U. S. LOAN

Per Capita Debt Is $2.50 as Compared With $900 in France and Britain

By PAUL B. REINSCH

Former U. S. Minister to China.
Copyright, 1921, by Universal Service, Inc.
Washington, Nov. 14.—Reports have been current that China has defaulted on the payment of a five million dollar American loan. These reports are unfounded but for the time being the terms of renewal have not been settled. But such rumors are apt to give people the impression that China is near a financial breakdown. The Chinese government may be embarrassed by money difficulties, but the country and people are at present as sound as any nation in the world.

Look at the amount of their public debt. It is not even one-tenth that of the first billion that means a per capita of $2.50. The per capita debt of France and of the United Kingdom approach $900. The total debt in each case nearly forty times as much as that of China. The per capita debt of the United States is $125.

Of all Asiatic countries, too, China has by far the smallest public debt. The per capita for Japan is $14 and for India $7.

But in China it is not an easy matter to increase the public debt. The people of China have been deeply distressed with the loan agreement made with Japan during the war; they have made it understood unmistakably to their government that they want no more foreign loans at this time. This is one of the reasons why there is delay about the American loan.

The American bankers, under the leadership of J. P. Morgan & Co., for more security than in a mere reorganization of the war and treasure tax, which was made the security of the original loan. The Chinese officials hesitate, in view of the public feeling. The American bankers also wish to have the Chinese government pay back interest on Chinese bonds issued in Germany. They have now come to America. The Chinese have declined to pay interest on the German bonds.

But why, if China is not in a bad financial situation, does she not pay off this loan? The answer is that while the Chinese public debt is small it is on the whole hard very difficult for the Chinese government to raise money. It is hampered in between two fires. By treaty, the Chinese government may back interest on Chinese bonds issued in Germany. They have now come to America. The Chinese have declined to pay interest on the German bonds.

On the other side the government is hampered in by the fact that China is governed by a corrupt and that it is very difficult to introduce new taxes. The greater part of the revenue is done by the province, which retains the local taxes for that purpose. To that is added the evil of provincial militarism. The military governors have in many cases not only retained local taxes for their military establishment but have drawn heavily on the central government in doing for giving their support.

WOMEN PROTEST PELLETIER BANNER

"Women Voters' League Headquarters" Emblem Gives False Impression, Is Charged

District Attorney Joseph G. Pelletier was today requested by the Boston League of Women Voters to remove from his campaign headquarters the banner bearing the words "District Attorney Joseph G. Pelletier, Women Voters' League Headquarters."

The banner gives the false impression that Pelletier's candidacy for Mayor has been endorsed by the League, the women said, whereas they intended John R. Murphy by an overwhelming vote.

The women reminded Pelletier that the League is incorporated and "we believe have a legal right to prevent infringement on our name."

POLICEMAN WHO WAS KNIFED RESUMES DUTY

West End Officer Fully Recovered From Wounds Inflicted Last August

Robert Caverly, police officer at Station No. 3, West End, has returned to duty after a long lay-off caused by injuries received when he attempted to take a knife away from Charles Hartman, of the U. S. Navy, last August.

Caverly ordered the station police to move on when he found him slithering on Court street late at night. The sailor, it is alleged, sprang on him from behind and stabbed him in the back. Caverly grappled with him and sought to wrest the knife away from him, receiving several more wounds in the process. He accomplished his task, however, without drawing either his club or his revolver.

Taken to the City Hospital, Caverly's wounds were for some weeks on the danger list, and for a time his recovery was despaired of.

Fresh From Paris Latest Word From Marie Suzanne

Paris, France.

THE three-quarter coat of a brown chevreton tulleur from Renee is colored, cuffed and lined to the hip with castor fur. Other claims to distinction are the twisted brown silk braid so doddily applied, a deep pocket on one side, and the unusual little turned-back edge to the fur cuffs. The general style and length of coat appearing in this tulleur are well liked in Paris.

Till combination of red and blue seems to be coming to the forefront of the winter mode, and Martini et Armand use this color combination in a large-plaided coat-dress, sketched at the right. The coat opens from the shoulder in a bias line across the front, having its collar and cuffs and lower edge fringed with strips of black monkey fur. About the waist is worn a narrow red leather girdle, with a number of little red leather buckles to trim it.

TWO KILLED AS AUTO CRASHES INTO POLE

North Attleboro Scans of Fatal Spill; One of Two Sisters and Escort Dead

North Attleboro, Nov. 14.—Two persons, a girl and a young man, are dead, and the sister of the dead girl and another young man are seriously hurt, as the result of an auto accident on the Foxboro turnpike, about four miles from this town.

THE DEAD.
MISS MAUD MACDONALD, twenty-one years old, of 216 North Washington street, North Attleboro.

LESTER DORE, twenty-three years old, of No. 127 North Main street, Attleboro.

THE INJURED.
MISS IZZELIAN MACDONALD, nineteen years old, of Circular street, North Attleboro. Severely cut and bruised. Will recover.

KENNETH L. BIRD, twenty-four years old, of Circular street, North Attleboro. Severely cut and bruised. Will recover.

Dore, the son of a well-known horse fancier, who operates a race course at Medford, was driving his car in which the accident occurred. The party had attended a dance at Red Man's Hall, this town, and drove off for a ride before returning to their homes.

On the turnpike near Robinson's Hill, Dore failed to see a sharp turn in the road and the machine crashed into an electric light pole. Dore was instantly killed from the shock. Miss MacDonald knocked unconscious, was dragged herself a quarter of a mile to the home of Alexander Louie and woke the family up. Dr. Michael R. Vance was summoned, but Miss MacDonald died without regaining consciousness shortly after her arrival. The dead girl and her sister are the daughters of John D. MacDonald, a driver of race horses.

The Boston American Would Like to Print Your Best Recipe

Tell us exactly how you prepare your best dish; the one you like best; the one your husband prefers; the one the children talk about.

For the best recipe sent to us each week, the Boston American will give an order for $25 worth of groceries and provisions. For every other recipe, which appeals to the judges and for which room for publication is found, the Boston American will pay an honorarium of One Dollar.

Twenty-five dollars in groceries or provisions, remember, for the Best Boston Recipe of the week; One dollar for every other recipe we print.

The Rules of This Cookery Contest Are Few and Simple

1—In sending your recipe either attach a sales slip, not more than one week old, from the establishment of some dealer in foodstuffs—grocery, market, delicatessen—whose advertisement you see in the Boston American during the current week or write the name and address of the store on the same sheet with the recipe, if the dealer does not give sales slips.

2—Write upon one side of the paper only.

3—At the top of the sheet write plainly your name and address.

The winner will receive an order on the store whose sales slip or name and address is attached to the prize recipe for $25 worth of groceries and provisions.

Please give special attention, for a minute, to Rule 1. It does NOT mean that you must buy all or any of the things called for by your recipe from a Boston American advertiser or from Boston American advertisers. You may never have bought a single one of them in these places. Your recent purchase from a Boston American advertiser may be of any foodstuff, in or out of your recipe. It may be for fifty cents or for ten dollars; the amount is not important. The Prize Boston Recipe Contest has a three-fold object. We want (1) for the information and instruction of all our readers, the best recipes we can get from (2) Boston American cooks who (3) trade with Boston American advertisers.

Be mothers, sisters, aunts, housekeepers, send us without delay that recipe for which you are famed among friends and kinfolk, but be sure to send along with it a sales slip not more than one week old from some establishment, dealing in foodstuffs, whose advertisement you find in the Boston American during the current week or the name and address of the dealer if he does not give sales slips.

And suit yourself about the kind of recipe you select. It may be that your baked beans are famous. John, your good man, may boast that his wife's baked beans "can't be beat" even in Boston. Perhaps there is something special in the way you prepare them. Tell us about it.

Or, possibly it is your brown bread, or your New England boiled dinner.

Piel! There's a typically New England, typically Boston article. Which is your best pie? How is it done?

Or it may be cake. It may be any of the thousand things New England women—Boston women—make better than any other women anywhere in America.

And by "Boston," of course, we mean "Greater Boston." The sales slip will tell the story. If you reside within trading distance of Boston American advertisers we shall assume—for the purposes of this contest—that you are a Bostonian.

Begin today reading the food advertisements in the Boston American. The current week's sales slip or the name and address of any grocery or provision dealer advertising in the Boston American entitles you to compete.

Entries close every Tuesday evening. Prize-winning announcements in the following week, beginning on Monday with the publication of the week's Best Recipe. Watch the Magazine Page. Send in YOUR Best Recipe today with sales slip attached or name of dealer.

All entries for the Best Boston Recipe Contest should be addressed to

We send a 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent to every home that asks. It forms a delightful and convincing test. Let some one in your home apply it, then all of you watch the effects. You will always want your teeth to look like the teeth you see.

They Remove the Film—

Those millions with glistening teeth

Millions of people, half the world over, are now daily brushing teeth in this new way.

Wherever you look you see the results of it. You see teeth that glisten—teeth which once were dim. They are teeth you envy, maybe.

Now we offer you the method they employ. A ten-day test is free. Remove from your teeth the dingy coat of film. Then judge the method by the whiteness and the cleanliness it brings.

Authorities advise this method. Leading dentists everywhere are urging its employment. But you can prove the benefits yourself—by what you see and feel.

Do that, for your sake and your family's sake. Learn the new results. Read the reasons in the book we send. Then decide between this method and the old-time ways.

Like New Teeth

When dingy film-coats go

New beauty comes with glistening teeth, and every woman owes that to herself.

Film removal brings out all the natural tooth luster. Then Pepsodent contains a unique polishing agent, harmless but efficient. Teeth highly polished are less apt to gather film.

This is one conspicuous result which your mirror will reveal.

Other delightful effects will come from this new cleanliness. Both film and starch deposits are effectively combated. The mouth is left after every use in alkaline condition.

Important night effects

The bedtime use of Pepsodent is most important. Film, starch deposits and acids do much of their damage at night.

Countless people who brush their teeth leave these deposits on them or between them. Such teeth are most unclean.

Pepsodent goes wherever the film goes, and combats it. Then it floods the mouth with saliva rich in starch digestant and in alkalis. And those factors penetrate everywhere. The cleaner, fresher feeling in the mouth is largely due to that.

Smoke stains on teeth

Users of tobacco often have teeth deeply stained. But the stain is in the film-coats, not the teeth. Removal of the film removes the stains. Smokers will therefore see conspicuous effects.

The way to keep teeth free from such stains is to keep the film removed. Tobacco does not stain enamel. Smokers' teeth may be as white as any teeth if the stained film is twice a day combated.

Why teeth discolor and decay

Your teeth are coated with a film. If it is new film it is viscous. You can feel it with your tongue. It clings to the teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. The ordinary tooth paste does not effectively combat it, so the tooth brush has left much of it intact.

That film makes white teeth cloudy. It breeds and fosters enemies of teeth. Between the teeth and elsewhere it may do ceaseless damage. Most tooth troubles are now traced to film.

What film-coats do

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. Film is the basis of tartar—the darker, harder coats. Film holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Also of other serious troubles, local and internal. These troubles have been constantly increasing, despite the wide use of the tooth brush. Teeth lose their natural luster. Few people escape tooth decay. Pyorrhea is alarmingly common.

So dental science has in late years sought diligently for ways to fight that film.

Two effective methods

Two ways have now been found. Able authorities have proved them by many careful tests. The benefits are now beyond all question.

A new-day tooth paste has been developed, based on modern requisites. The name is Pepsodent. These two film-combating methods are embodied in it.

It is now being used nearly all the world over, largely by dental advice. And millions of people now enjoy the results.

Five New Effects

Modern research has discovered other effects that are needed. And this new tooth paste has been made to meet all these requirements.

Starch deposits cling to teeth, get between the teeth and gum them. They often ferment and form acids.

Nature puts a substance in saliva to digest that starch. But, with modern diet, it is generally too weak. Nature also puts alkalis in the saliva to neutralize mouth acids as they form. But they need stimulation.

Aids nature needs

Certain elements in food will multiply those tooth-protecting agents. But, in average diet, those elements are scanty. So modern authority advises that the tooth paste should produce the same effects.

So Pepsodent does this: It multiplies the salivary flow—Nature's great tooth-protecting agent. It multiplies the starch digestant in saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. It multiplies the alkalinity of saliva, to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

All come twice daily

The regular use of Pepsodent brings all these effects twice daily. It combats the film. It leaves the teeth so highly polished that film less easily adheres. And it gives to Nature's tooth-protecting forces a multiplied volume and power.

These are new effects. No ordinary tooth paste brings them. In fact, all tooth paste based on soap bring opposite effects. They depress the salivary flow and reduce its protective powers.

All who will may now depart from those ineffective methods. All may bring to their homes a new era in teeth cleaning. This is to urge that you see the change a new way brings—even a ten-day test.

Look at Their Teeth

After a few days' use

Children need Pepsodent most. Their teeth are most subject to these film attacks. Few children reach the age of 15 without some tooth decay. To millions these early tooth troubles, when neglected, bring life-long effects.

Dentists now advise that children use Pepsodent from the time the first tooth appears. There is no other method which so combats the enemies of teeth, or renders like protection.

Watch the quick results

Pepsodent best argues for itself. Some effects are almost instant, all of them prompt. A week will convince you that this new method should supplant the old.

Send the coupon for the 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

All effects will be delightful. Some will be surprising, but the book we send explains the reason for them.

Compare your teeth now with your teeth in ten days. Judge by the benefits you clearly see and feel. Then decide if you always want those whiter, cleaner, safer teeth.

Cut out the coupon so you won't forget.

WHEN WOMEN FOLK thought they were "dressed to kill!" In these funny clothes of varying periods! However, don't laugh girls, because the succeeding generations will probably laugh at your styles of today—short skirts, bobbed hair and everything! Turn back a few pages and imagine how proud the ladies who wore these garments were when they took their Sunday morning stroll. The years when these modes were fashionable are, from left to right: Society costume, 1889; woman, 1895, 1890, 1915, 1910, 1878 and 1900. (W. W.)

"COME, TAKE A TRIP IN MY FLYING MACHINE!" The chap who wrote that old song must have had a vision of this little silver plane. One can almost get it into the family garage. Called the "aeromobile" and designed by a man named Bihler, it has a speed of 120 kilometers an hour. It is constructed entirely of metal and its plane can be detached. A one-ton truck can cart the little flier from and to the flying field. The engine is rotary. (A. W.)

JORDAN, YALE FULLBACK, STOPPED TIGERS' LAST ATTEMPT TO SCORE

By CHARLES E. PARKER

Sunday's accounts of the forty-first annual Yale-Princeton football game made little or no mention of one "Doc" Jordan, the fullback, and yet, unless we are very much in error, "Doc" alone stood between the Princeton team and the desperately sought and almost achieved victory.

The game, a take line back, from which a play which brought Yale to the end zone and was worked back to the end zone, when the fullback, Jordan, gave the Yale fullback a tackle which stopped the Princeton team from scoring.

ABE MITCHELL WORLD'S GREATEST GOLFER, SAYS HUTCHISON

By JOCK HUTCHISON

Those who saw ABE Mitchell, the famous British pro, play golf while over here watched one of the greatest performances of the present day.

For those who understand the game well, it is a rare treat to see him hit a ball. ABE is a remarkably long driver, perhaps the longest in the world. A fine iron player and quite as good with the mallet and the putter.
